Hanoi Claims U.S. Delaying Start of Talks

TOKYO (AP) — The North Vietnam Foreign Ministry accused the United States Saturday of "deliberately delaying" preliminary peace talks on Vietnam. It demanded that the United States stop making "unfavorable conditions" for the talks.

The accusation and demand were contained in an official statement broadcast by Radio Hanoi, and monitored here early Sunday.

The statement charged that the United States was "deliberately delaying" the opening of preliminary peace talks by setting forth various conditions "under ill-founded pretexts."

The statement mentioned the U.S. refusal to meet in Phnom Penh. It said the United States has withheld its stand on Warsaw, proposed by North Vietnam as an alternate site for preliminary talks.

It said the United States laid down two conditions for the preliminary talks and "this attitude is contrary to its stated" (Cont. on Page 24, Col. 4)

Pope Paul Heralds The Resurrection

From AP and UPI Dispatches

Pope Paul VI marked the close of the Lenten period of mourning Holy Saturday night, changing from purple garments to white to herald the joy of the Resurrection of Christ.

Though fatigued from the arduous ceremonies of Holy Week, the 70-year-old pontiff proceeded normally through a celebration of Mass in the basilica of St. Paul's Outside the Walls.

After lighting the Paschal candle, which symbolizes Christ as the light of the world, the pontiff changed his purple vestments for white to concelebrate Mass with Benedictine Abbots Giovanni Franzoni of Italy and Gabriel Braso of Spain.

At other churches throughout Rome, services were held later so that they might coincide with the start of the first Easter Mass commemorating the Resurrection. The pontiff, however, followed the example of other popes by celebrating Mass early so that he might rest for Sunday's demanding schedule. He has been showing signs of strain, attributed to a slow recovery from surgery in November.

The services at St. Paul's Outside the Walls, built by the Emperor Constantine on the site where it is believed the apostle Paul was beheaded, is considered perhaps the most stirring in the Roman Catholic liturgy—with sorrow at the death of Christ giving way to confident expectation of His rising.

The service, lasting about two hours, included such symbols of the Resurrection as the kindling of a new fire on the steps of the church and the lighting of the huge candle. It was carried inside the church, with each member of the congregation lighting a small candle from the flame.

Following the Mass, the Pope gave Communion to members of his Vatican household.

On Easter Sunday, the Pope will end a demanding week of religious duties and official appearances with an open air Mass on the porch of St. Peter's Basilica at 11 a.m. and the traditional Easter message and the "urbi et orbi" (to the city and the world) blessing.

German Left Threatens New Violence

From AP and UPI Dispatches

BERLIN — Extremist students Saturday threatened new measures to try and shut down West Germany's and West Berlin's largest news-paper group, the Axel Springer publishing house. The campaign was denounced as an attack on freedom of the press.

Hans Juergen Kral, a leader of the "German Socialist Federation Students" announced a new attempt will be made on Easter Monday to stop distribution of Springer newspapers.

He said the new action probably would be combined with "Easter Ban the Bomb" marches (Cont. on Page 24, Col. 1)

B52 Pounding In Delta Area Kills 200 V.C.

SAIGON (AP) — Air Force B52s pounded enemy positions up and down South Vietnam with five separate missions Saturday, on the heels of a rare strike in the Mekong Delta that killed 200 Viet Cong.

On a day when attention focused on the air war, the U.S. Command also reported that the controversial $6-million F111 jet fighter-bombers have resumed flying combat missions over North Vietnam.

The swing-wing planes, equipped with revolutionary radar guidance systems, had been grounded since March 30 after two of them were lost in less than a week of combat flying.

Except for an enemy mortar and ground attack on two platoons of American infantrymen 11 miles west of coastal Tam Ky, little ground fighting was reported Saturday.

The two platoons of the 196th Light Inf Brigade were in night defensive positions when an estimated 200 Viet Cong troops (Cont. on Page 23, Col. 5)

Fan Starts RFK Drive on Right Foot

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — A 27-year-old mother of five proudly showed off a presidential campaign souvenir to neighbors and newspaper photographers Friday. It wasn't a button. It was Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's right shoe.

Mrs. Phyllis Jenkins snatched off the shoe on a Kennedy campaign.

The New York Democrat had just finished a Kalamazoo speech and had out-sprinted a group of enthusiastic admirers to a waiting convertible.

Admirers swarmed about as Kennedy stood in the back seat reaching and shaking hands, many of them reluctant to let go as the car moved slowly forward down Michigan Avenue toward the Kalamazoo airport.

Bent on a souvenir of "my favorite," Mrs. Jenkins said she quickly snatched off her own shoes to give chase to the convertible. When she reached it, she said she hoisted herself on the back, "but couldn't get a hanky or anything, so I just took his shoe."

It came off still tied, but Kennedy managed to keep his backseat stance.

"Everybody was going nuts all around," one onlooker recalled. "He couldn't have kept her from getting it unless he'd kicked her, and he didn't want to do that, obviously."

A surprised airport crowd bidding him goodby saw the otherwise immaculately attired senator hobble to the ramp of his plane, a shoe missing.

It turned out to be an 8½, with an arch support, and "London, England," inscribed inside.
