

Terrorists Said To Be Living In Guatemala

WIESBADEN, West Germany (AP) - Fifteen or more West German terrorists are currently in Guatemala, a West German radio report said today.

They apparently entered the Central American country from Mexico, disguised as tourists, the Cologne-based radio station Deutschlandfunk reported.

In Wiesbaden, a spokesman for the Federal West German criminal office said it had asked authorities in Guatemala City for information and was awaiting a reply.

The spokesman added that search warrants for German terrorists had gone to member nations of Interpol, the international police organization with headquarters in Paris.

Gerhard Boeden, chief antiterror specialist of the FBI-style Wiesbaden office said earlier this month he expects further assassination strikes and kidnappings aimed at the release of some 50 jailed anarchists.

Police are searching for 25 women and 19 men, regarded as the remaining hard core of the so-called Red Army Faction, a successor organization to the anarchist Baader-Meinhof gang.

Rewards of $20,000 each are offered for 15 main suspects in terrorist slayings this year.

These include the assassination of the federal chief prosecutor, Siegfried Buback, and his two guards in April, the slaying of Dresdner Bank Chairman Juergen Ponto in July and the September kidnapping and deaths of industrialist Hanns-Martin Schleyer, his driver and three escorts.
