

Ulrike Meinhof Captured in Hannover

Police also found passports and drivers' licenses.

Police said she was flown by helicopter to a confinement facility outside the city.

The man was identified as Gerhard Mueller, who was making a telephone call from a nearby phone booth when arrested by two policemen.

Police had received a tip as to where the two were hiding and had traced their movements.

It was believed that the two might have arrived here from West Berlin.

Police said Mueller, 24, has not previously been identified as a member of the Baader-Meinhof gang. Police described him as a known homosexual.

Butte said the telephoned tip reported a suspect man and woman had moved into a private apartment at 11 Walsroderstrasse in Langenhagen near the city's airport.

Police surrounded the building, but made their move only after Mueller, who apparently was serving as Miss Meinhof's bodyguard, left the apartment to make a telephone call.

A police spokesman indicated that she did not arm herself before answering the door when they rang the bell.

Of the "hard core" members of the gang, only 18-year-old Ilse Stachowiak remains at large, although lesser members may be hiding in Denmark, police said.

Miss Meinhof was believed linked to a West Berlin apartment that was wrecked by explosives earlier this month. It was soon after the blast that two more members of the gang, Bernhard Braun, 26, and Brigitte Mohnhaupt, 22, were picked up by Berlin police in another apartment living under assumed names.

Another hard-core member of the gang, Gudrun Ensslin, was apprehended two days earlier in a Hamburg boutique. She was carrying a pistol in her handbag.

Braun and Miss Mohnhaupt were vastly changed in their outward appearance from pictures being circulated by authorities throughout the country.

Miss Meinhof, the ideological leader of the Baader-Meinhof gang, has been sought since May 1970, when Baader was freed from police custody in West Berlin while serving a three-year sentence for a politically motivated arsonist attack on a Frankfurt department store.

Police officials said that she engineered the escape in which a policeman was shot and wounded. Baader's escape marked the beginning of politically motivated criminal activities including bank holdups, car thefts, shootouts with police and terrorist bombing attacks.

The rash of bank robberies is believed to have netted the gang more than $60,000.

Ulrike, a 37-year-old divorcee who has two children, used the aliases Anna and Rana. Her parents were art historians and died when she was a young girl. Police said she was raised by Renate Riemeck, a West Berlin Free University professor, who introduced Ulrike to "leftist thinking."

In Hamburg, she met leftist journalist Klaus-Rainer Roehl, who published the student paper Konkret. Ulrike worked on the paper's staff. They married, and were divorced in 1968.

The gang, modeling itself after South American and Arab urban guerrillas, had been sought in connection with a wave of bombing attacks that left four U.S. soldiers dead and 36 Americans and Germans injured.

The arrest of Ulrike brings to seven the number of alleged key figures in the gang who have been arrested since police surrounded a hideout in Frankfurt June 1 and wounded Baader in a shootout not far from U.S. Forces facilities, including the V Corps headquarters where the first bombing attack on U.S. installations occurred May 3.

IRA Chiefs Track Bureau Denies Charges Of Race Fixing

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland was generally quiet Friday as leaders of the Provisional Wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) considered a call by Roman Catholic politicians for a cease-fire.

A man was taken to hospital after being hit in the leg by one of seven shots fired from a passing car in Great George St., Belfast, early Friday.

In Greencastle, near Belfast, a bomb damaged the stock room of a cooperative store.

Two Locations

Provisional IRA sources said their leaders were meeting in Londonderry and Dublin to consider the call by leaders of the Social Democratic and Labor Party (SDLP) for a 14-day cease-fire.

SDLP leader Paddy Devlin, who issued the cease-fire appeal Thursday after a meeting in London with Northern Ireland secretary William Whitelaw, flew to Dublin Friday and on his arrival was optimistic about peace prospects.

"This afternoon significant things will be happening for peace in the North," Devlin told reporters at the airport.

15 Released

Shortly afterwards 15 men were released from the Long Kesh internment camp, where they had been held without trial under the Special Powers Act. A total of 553 men have now been set free since Whitelaw assumed direct rule in Northern Ireland.

Three hundred and eighty seven are still in custody.

In London, Prime Minister Edward Heath called his ministers together to discuss the proposed peace talks with opposition political parties in Northern Ireland, announced by Whitelaw in the commons Thursday.

Whitelaw will also meet the SDLP leaders separately again Monday in Belfast.

Egyptians to Drill for Oil

CAIRO (UPI) — Egyptian teams will soon start exploratory drilling for oil in the Faghour area near the border with Libya, according to the Al Akhbar newspaper.

Youth Charged in Crank Threat

FRANKFURT (S&S) — A 15-year-old dependent stepson of an Army specialist six has been charged with making a crank bomb threat and will go on trial at juvenile court here June 23 or 26.

"Charges against the second youth, 16, were dropped," said a V Corps spokesman. "He appeared on the scene after the call was made, but before the police arrived."

The youth facing trial allegedly telephoned the main Frankfurt PX, May 24, the day after the Heidelberg bombing which killed three soldiers. The call was reported made from the American housing area.

"Mr. X" Bobby Byrne

certificate bearing the name of Oriennel but bearing the registration number and markings of the horse, "Transponder," he said. "Narragansett stewards suspended owner Paul Best and trainer Servideo."

Drayton said that as a result of that incident and others now being probed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Jockey Club, which certifies all foals, was taking measures to close the loophole and eliminate the running of "ringers."

The New Jersey Racing Commission, meanwhile, also denied the allegations of Byrne concerning Garden State Race Track in Cherry Hill.

Hugh L. Mehorter, chairman of the commission, said the members "categorically deny all the allegations made by Robert Byrne."

GI Gets 15 Years For Fatal Stabbing

FRANKFURT (Army) — A 3rd Armd Div soldier has been found guilty of murder and sentenced to 15 years confinement at hard labor for the murder of a fellow GI.

Receiving the sentence Thursday after a two-day general court-martial here was Pfc. Charles Colon, of Hq and Hq Co, 1st Bn, 33rd Armor, at Gelnhausen. Colon was charged with the fatal stabbing of Spec. 4 Ronald W. Olson of the same company on March 29 near Coleman Casern in Gelnhausen.

According to MPs, the call was made at 10:30 a.m. The caller said, "There is a bomb in the PX, no, I mean the shopping center."

The PX was cleared for 30 minutes while a bomb search was made.

The youth's stepfather is assigned to Hessen Support Hq.

Yanks Pound North But Exempt Hanoi

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Command Friday reported more than 340 air strikes inside North Vietnam Thursday but said the fighter-bombers followed Washington orders to stay clear of Hanoi during the visit of Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

U.S. Air Force and Navy jets hit bridges, truck traffic and airfields in North Vietnam Thursday with the northernmost attack damaging the Ninh Binh rail and highway bridge 54 miles southwest of the North Vietnamese capital.

Among the targets hit by U.S. aircraft were five bridges, three storage areas, 50 trucks and the runways of three airfields, the U.S. Command said.

American B52 bombers also flew four missions against supply storage areas in the North Vietnamese lower panhandle. B52s also flew two missions two miles east and five miles northeast of the long-besieged city of An Loc in the 24 hours ended at noon Friday and U.S. Navy pilots hit Communist bunkers 20 and 25 miles northwest of Saigon.

An F4 Phantom jet hit a Soviet-made tank north of Communist-occupied Quang Tri on Thursday and another tank sitting in the midst of a fuel dump southeast of the city was blown up by the guns of the U.S. guided missile destroyer Joseph Straus offshore, the command said.

In the ground war, fighting increased Thursday in northern areas around Hue with South Vietnamese commanders reporting 57 Communist troops killed in several clashes around Fire Base King and 43 killed in fighting near Fire Base Bastogne. Government losses were listed as seven killed and 27 wounded.

Police Probe Killing In Park at Frankfurt

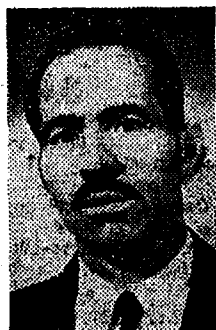

FRANKFURT (S&S) — German police here are seeking information about the stabbing death of a 35-year-old Moroccan in a Frankfurt city park during the early hours of June 10.

According to a German witness, an English-speaking group of three or four men were overhead while standing near the victim in the park area (Tausanlange) between the new opera house and the Chase Manhattan Bank building. The time was between 2 and 3 a.m.

One of the group is described as about 30 years old, 6 feet tall, slender, with long blond hair and a blond full beard. He was wearing an olive green parka. It is unknown if the group had a conversation with the victim, Boudjeman El Hams.

Anyone with possible information on the incident has been asked to contact the Frankfurt military police at Frankfurt military 5004.
